Politics & Legislation

by John Faro, Political Junkie

A hearing on SB 244 was held Tuesday, 14 January, at the NH State House. The Gun Owners of America (GOA) has published a point by point rebuttal of the misleading arguments made for this bill.

Misleading point #1: SB244 does not create disqualifiers.

Response: There are millions of gun owners who could lose their gun rights under the ATF's interpretation of 18 U.S.C. 922(g) and the NICS Improvement Act of 2008. Example: A GOA member's 88 year old mother had Alzheimer's Disease and had a guardian appointed under RSA 464-A in a "star chamber proceeding" (meaning no representation or council). Under SB244, she would have automatically had her gun rights stripped without any due process and her name sent to the FBI gun-ban blacklist. While no one has been able to identify any danger of gun violence posed by people with Alzheimer's, many of them do have valuable gun collections which they'd like to pass on to their children.

Similarly, under the emergency provisions of RSA 135C, an individual being treated by a psychiatrist can be committed, on an emergency basis, as a result of a subjective diagnosis with no due process whatsoever. Such a person would presumably automatically have those gun rights taken away. The involuntary commitment standard contained in this RSA, which is explicitly incorporated by SB244, is applicable to an involuntary commitment without a court order.

That the ATF's unconstitutional interpretation of federal law would currently allow some of this in theory, does not diminish the fact that SB244 would mandate it in practice.

GOA is working to overturn or defund any effort by the Obama administration to partially repeal federal health privacy laws (HIPPA). The last thing we need is for NH to repeal them by fiat.

Misleading point #2: Unless SB244 is passed, a buyer is now subject to ten years in prison (for purchasing a gun, even if he is not in NICS), and the FFL can lose his license.

Response: First of all, under McClure-Volkmer, a prohibited person transaction is not criminal unless committed "knowingly."

Second: A person does not become a prohibited person under that law unless he is "adjudicated" or "committed", so a person is not subject to a gun ban because he has Alzheimer's, or Post Traumatic Stress Disorder, or Attention Deficit and Hyperactivity Disorder. This would change in NH with passage of SB244.

Misleading point #3: "SB 244 creates, for the first time, a relief mechanism..."

Response: We went through this sham with the "relief" provisions of the Veterans Disarmament Act (AKA the NICS Improvement Act of 2008). The biggest pro-gun lawyer in NH would charge a minimum of $10,000 for restoration of rights. Veterans can't afford this. And the people who would be victimized by SB244 can't afford this. This procedure is meaningless.

Misleading point #4: If we don't pass gun control. We'll get even worse gun control.

Response: This is delusional. Every time gun groups have tried to buy off anti-gun groups by passing "gun control lite," it strengthened the anti-gun movement, dispirited the pro-gun movement, and served as nothing but a platform for the next demand for gun-control, which frequently came immediately after our capitulation.

Many thanks to GOA for this in depth review of this onerous bit of legislative legerdemain. Thanks to Gun Owners of NH for their vocal opposition to this bill as written.

Our brethren to the South have their hands full battling the state Attorney General who ignores the law when it comes to the rights of citizens who chose to own and use firearms for self-defense. The Gun Owners Action League (GOAL) is in the forefront to protect the firearms rights of law-abiding citizens. They are fighting to keep the rights still on the books and fighting to restore rights lost. As they will affirm, keeping rights is easier than trying to restore rights.

Please don't allow the Granite State to slip into the abyss that now exists in the People's Republic of Taxachusetts. Eternal vigilance will prevail.

Absent Companions

Michael Tennis AKA "Tennessee" Member #3292

Mike Tennis, 61, of Epping, NH, died of pneumonia at Parkland Medical Center in Derry NH, on Monday, 7 January. He waged a four year battle with cancer, but it didn't get him in the end.

Tennessee, as he was affectionately known to those who knew him well, lived a full life right to the end, never letting his illness get him down. He was always a smiling face around the Club, helping out in the kitchen, shooting Cowboy Matches, or knocking down steel plates or bowling pins.

Mike was a cancer patient at Parkland, and became somewhat of a star in his own right, appearing in a video shot by the Oncology Department. It can be viewed on YouTube at <http://tinyurl.com/q62h3bb>.

Mike was cremated, and a portion of his ashes will be loaded into and disseminated via shotgun shell at a memorial service to be held on 29 June, at his home in Epping.

Let it not be said that he didn't go out with a bang.

Thomas Brucato Member #3883

Thomas D. Brucato, 47, of Salem, NH, died unexpectedly, Tuesday, January 14, at his home.

Thomas was born and educated in Methuen, MA. He hauled petroleum and was a member of the Windham Bible Chapel. He loved riding his Harley. Thomas enjoyed skydiving and shooting at Country Pond Fish and Game Club in Newton, NH.

Thomas is survived by his wife, Paula (Pekarski) Brucato of Salem, NH; his mother, Elizabeth "Libby" Brucato of Methuen, MA and his father, Peter Brucato and his wife, Rebecca, of Kensington, NH; his children, Jesse Brucato of Salem, NH, Casey Brucato and Shelby Brucato of Derry NH, Nicholas, Jeremy and Megan Tilton, all of Salem, NH; his brother, Gregory Brucato of Shrewsbury, MA; his sisters, Erica Hill of Kingston, NH and Kerri Brucato of Methuen, MA and many nieces and nephews.

In lieu of flowers, donations can be made to the Brucato Family Fund, c/o Paula Brucato, 6 Gillis Ter., Salem, NH 03079.

To send a message of condolence to the family, please view the obituary at www.douglasandjohnson.com.

Fishermen's Swap & Shop

The annual Fishing Flea Market will be held on 15 March from 9:00 to 4:00. Volunteers are needed for setup, tear down, and putting up signs. Any time will be greatly appreciated.

If you can help please contact Rich Tuite at 603-347-1373 or marksman1953@yahoo.com

Poker Anyone?

Why isn't there a place at the Club for Members to kick back and relax... maybe drink some coffee and play some cards?

The answer: Country Pond Fish & Game Club is a Shooting Club, not a Social Club, and a Social Club requires paid staff, which we don't have.

Cooper VS Terrorism

by Jeff Cooper (reprinted from the 1975 Guns & Ammo Annual)

Here we are in the "Age of Extortion." Our local friendly felons have finally discovered what has long been taken for granted in what we used to call "more backward countries" - that crime does pay - in millions. All you need to do is threaten to do something terrible and people will throw money at you. You don't need any particular talent or skill to get rich this way, and you don't need education or training. The only requisite is nastiness, and that is no rare quality.

We can speculate at length upon why this foulness has come upon us so strikingly at this point in our history, but I doubt that any incontrovertible conclusion will result. My own suggestion is simply overpopulation. Like rats, we get testier as we get crowded. By simple arithmetic, if the proportion of goblins to people in our society remains constant, doubling our population doubles the number of goblins. And they reinforce each other as their numbers rise.

But such speculation is academic. We have the problem; never mind why. What shall we do about it? In a socialist atmosphere, the immediate response is to hand the problem to the state. Pass a law! Any law. Just so you can say that something has been done. And above all, spend money. We have come to assume that the more money we spend on a problem, the quicker it will go away.

Now it is quite true that the state can indeed abolish extortion, terrorism, and crime. History offers many examples of nations in which none of these things existed. We can start with Senacherib of Assyria and browse on up to Porfirio Diaz of Mexico. An iron fist will do it. That's the state's simple and effective answer to disorderly conduct. If you want it arranged so that the state will protect you, you can do so. What you give up in return is your liberty.

No deal.

The man to protect you is you. Not the state, not the agent of the state, and not your hired hand - YOU!

How often is our intelligence insulted by the fatuous claim that we should rely on the police for our physical security! I cannot believe that the people who advance this idea believe it themselves. The police do indeed abort a certain amount of violent crime by their coincidental presence on the scene, and that's fine. But to tell us that all we have to do is call a cop when confronted by a troll is to talk like a fool - and those who tell us this know it.

The "in" crime today is kidnapping. The police have never prevented a kidnapping. Not once. On the other hand, the intended victim often has. You don't hear much about these latter episodes, because a crime that does not take place is not newsworthy, but it is my business to know about such things and I keep track of them as best I may, and there have been at least a dozen instances brought to my attention in the last two years.

Hiring other people, public or private, to protect yourself, is perhaps not totally futile, but it must never be considered more than marginally effective. Both policemen and bodyguards can be suborned, and skill levels are problematical.

Pistol skill is not something to count on in a hired hand. Two recent examples stand out because they were caught by television cameras. These were the attempts on Governor Wallace and Imelda Marcos. In each case, guards were plentiful, and armed, but not sufficiently skilled. In each case, there was plenty of time to hit the attacker before he acted, but those responsible reacted only afterward.

On the other hand, the intended victim can seek his own skill level, and he can put it to use more quickly than any other person when he suddenly finds that he himself is a target.

Your best protector is you!

Apart from the skill factor, there is the matter of reliability. A man you hire to protect you can be hired by somebody else not to. It is nerve-wracking to be dogged about by armed men on your daily rounds, and it is also both conspicuous and un-private.

Some years ago, I undertook to train the personal guard of a certain chief of state in pistolcraft. When the course was completed, I was able to address my client thus: "Your Excellency, 24 of your 28 men are now distinctly more efficient with their sidearms than the generality of those who guard the President of the United States. They are very good, but I don't know who they are - I hope you do."

Cooper VS. Terrorism

He knew what I meant. One of his predecessors in office had been murdered by one of his own guards. Of my students who previously employed bodyguards, most now do not, except as car watchers.

Your best protector is you!

Still we hear, over and over again, that we should not be armed, that we should not resist, that we should rely on the police for our personal safety - that our best answer to violence is to give up. Such drivel demands a stronger stomach than mine.

One bleeding-heart type asked me in a recent interview if I did not agree that "violence begets violence." I told him that it is my earnest endeavor to see that it does. I would like very much to ensure - and in some cases I have - that any man who offers violence to his fellow citizen begets a whole lot more in return than he can enjoy.

Your best protector is you! The obvious way to eradicate crime is to eradicate criminals, but neither the lawgivers nor the constabulary seem inclined to do this. The man who elects to prey upon society deserves no consideration from society. If he survives his act of violence, he rates a fair trial - but only to be sure that there has been no mistake about his identity. If he is killed in the act, there can be little doubt about whose act it was.

But we don't want a "Porfirato," in which the police simply shoot all suspects out of hand. Such a regime may indeed have a certain austere appeal in today's climate of urban chaos, but to trade one's liberty for security is to sell one's soul to the devil, as Ben Franklin noted. And, to quote James Burnham, it is both our lives and our liberties that are at stake.

Laws are not the answer. We have laws against murder. We have laws against kidnapping. We have laws against extortion. And murder, kidnapping, and extortion are on the rise. The answer, it seems to me, is wrath. Let the thug take his chances with an alert, prepared, and angry citizenry. It may very well spoil his whole career.

This is not a call for vigilantism: It is a call for self-reliance. For those who feel short on self-reliance, I have a suggestion. Take up practical pistol shooting as a recreation. It is a good game. It is fun. It is "relevant." And it does wonders for your self-reliance.

Your best protector is - as it always has been - you!
